

LUNCHTIME DISCOVERY

Series

Presented by educators, scientists and other professionals working in a wide range of environmental fields.

WEDNESDAYS NOON-1PM

Live Virtual Presentation hosted by N.C. Museum of Natural Sciences Daily Planet Curator, Chris Smith

08/05/2020

The Other Side of Environmental Injustice: Parks and Greenspace Inequity in Marginalized Communities

Tatiana Height, Doctoral Candidate in Agriculture and Extension Education at North Carolina State University

08/12/2020

Updates from Spiral Graph, the Astronomy Citizen Science Project with a Twist

Dr. Patrick Treuthardt, Assistant Head, Astronomy and Astrophysics Research Lab, North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences

08/19/2020

Ships, Submersibles and Deep-Sea Creatures, Oh My! Experiences Studying the Deep

Ian Grace, Graduate Student Research Assistant, Aurora Myers, Undergraduate Student Research Assistant and Leslie Smith, Undergraduate Student Research Assistant, North Carolina State University

08/26/2020

Will History Repeat Itself? Climate Change, Extinction and the Geological Record

Dr. David Bond, Head of Geology, Department of Geography, Geology and Environment at the University of Hull, Hull England

09/02/2020

Give to Grow - Connecting Community to Food, Education and Wellness at Cape Fear Botanical Garden!

Amy Stidham, Therapeutic Horticulture Program Manager, Cape Fear Botanical Garden

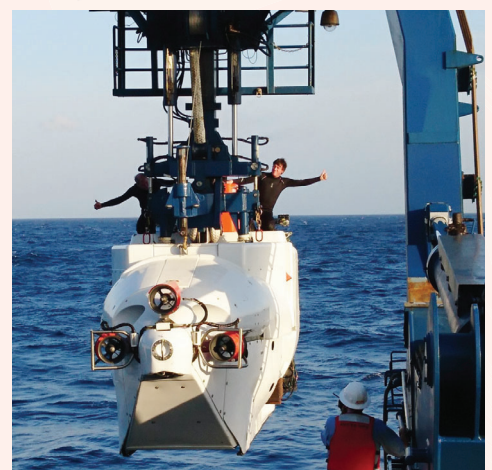

Brought To You By:

THE OFFICE OF ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

NORTH CAROLINA
Museum of Natural Sciences

Please contact Lisa Tolley to RSVP or if you have any questions: lisa.tolley@ncdenr.gov or call 919-707-8125